HERALD AND THE UNION

What Religious Paper Says About the Banishment of Reporters.

THE BIBLE IN THE SCHOOLS

Dr. Pitt Earnestly Opposes Its Use-Deprecates the Present Discussion.

The argument used by the Herald is based upon the fundamental principle of religious liberty and the complete sepacates the revival by the ministers of an cates the revival by the ministers of an old and much vexed question.

"After all," asks the Herald, "what is the necessity of reopening this question?" We have heard a great deal of irresponsible and reckless talk about the godless public schools.' Not long ago one of the foremost religious journals in the land sent out inquiries to a large number of presidents of colleges throughout the land, touching the relative standing of students who had been trained in the public schools. Almost without exception, the response was ontirely favorable to these students, as compared with those who had been trained in private schools. It seems to us that the present agitation is untimely. Certainly any attempt to make the State administer in religion will meet with determined and deathless opposition."

AFTER THE UNION.

In the introductory paragraph of its editorial, the Herald takes a dig at the Ministerial Union. Says the Herald:

"Some time ago the Ministerial Union of Richmond and Manchester decided that it was impracticable to conduct in this city a union evangelistic service, for the reason that some of the denominations represented in the union could not consistently take part in such a service. Incidentally the union also declared that its policy would thenceforth be to exclude from consideration all questions on which there was serious division among than. Having thus resolved itself into a they have banished from their meetings the imaginative reporters for our daily press, whose lively fancias contribute so largely to the joy and zest of life. The second Monday in February is the field day for the union, and we hestitate to have anything to say on the question which will then be, debated lest we may blunt the keen edge of public interest in the event. However, as the discussion has been proceeding for some weeks past in the secular dailies, we venture to submit a few plain remarks."

THE VIADUCT

Curious Accident to a Big Chesapeake and Ohio Engine Yesterday.

FIREMAN SLIGHTLY INJURED

Engineer Stuck to His Post, But Escaped Without a Scratch.

Thirty feet above the street, a monster comotive of the Chesapeake and Ohlo toppled over yesterday morning on the the intersection of Dock Street, and, streched its length along the ties, where it lay until removed by wrecking crews.

Great in possibilities, the accident was small in actual accomplishment. The engineer stuck valiantly to his post, but escaped without a scratch. The firemen were thrown out and painfully, but not seriously, injured. The engine and the viaduct were damaged to a certain extent. There was practically no interference to traffic.

CURIOUS UPSETTING.

The engine was No. 482, one of the lattest on the road. Engineer Yarbrough was in charge of the train, which was traveling west over the James River Division. The rate of speed was nothing unusual. At the foot of Nineteening unusual, at the foot of Nineteening unusual, and engineer stuck valiantly to his post, but ing unusual. At the foot of Nineteenth Suret, the huge locomotive suddenly, and apparently without cluse, jumped the track, and for the next hundred feet the street below. Two of the empty it was pulling went off the track it.

In the crash the cab was set on fire by coals thrown out of the fire-box. Engineer Yarbrough sluck to his post and escaped without a scratch. Fireman Puryear was thrown out and painfully injured. His back was sprained and he was bruised about the body. The ambulance was called, and he was taken to his kome, which is at No. 611 Albermarle Street.

ANOTHER ACCIDENT.

At Fort Lee early yesterday morning six coal cars jumped the track. Coal was scattered along the track for a considerable distance. The accident was due to a broken axle. The wreckage was cleared up shortly and no delay to traffic resulted.

PAN-BAPTIST CONFERENCE Plan for One Seems to be Meet## ing With Favor.

Discussion is again beginning to turn upon the question of forming a great Pan-Baptist conference, to be made up of all the Baptist people in the world. At present each wing of the denomination pursues its way without any rallying point around which to come together in pursues its which to come together in one name.

For the past ten years the Religious, Herald, of this city, has been earnestly advocating a Pan-Baptist conference. The Baptist Argus now takes the matter up and adds its voice to the call, proposing that the conference be held in London. England, The agitation is beginning to spread, and it may yet crystalize into some definite movement. The Argus suggests that Secretaries Willingham, Gray and Forest, and President Mullins be sont as representatives from the Southern Baptist Convention.

BLOODHOUNDS DO WELL AT THE STATE FARM

There was an interesting and highly successful man-hunt with bloodhounds at the State penitentiary farm Tuesday arternoon, when a most satisfactory test was made of three young animals just purchased by the board of directors, to be used in chasing escaped convicts.

The members of the board and officers of the penitentiary were highly pleased with the result. The board went over the farm and found things in good shape, and mapped out some further improvements to be made during the year.

Ordinance Passed.

The Board of Aldermen, at a called meeting last night, passed an ordinance produced and the salaries and wages of the city employes for the new year, pending the making up of the annual budget.

There were just fourteen members present, and the session lasted only a few moments.

clude from consideration all questions on which there was serious division among them. Having thus resolved itself into a negative and harmless social and devotional club, the union pursued the even tenor of its way until a few Monday mornings ago, when the Rev. Mr. Semmes, an excellent Episcopal clergyman of this city, read, by request, a paper on "Teaching the Christian Religion in Public Schools." This paper has in a sudden and startling way transformed the union into a debating society—a sort of zrena within which our intellectual gladiators may disport themselves. In order that they may do this unhindered, they have banished from their meetings the imaginative reporters for our daily

A few drunks passed along. THE HENRICO COURT

Will Soon Do So.

The Henrico County Court did not adjount yesterday as was expected by many. It will wind up its work within the next day or two, however, and will then go out of existence. The present term of the court, the final one, expires by limitation on Saturday.

Judge R. Carter Scott, who will preside over the new Circuit Court, which will come into being next Monday, qualified yesterday before Judge Ingram in Richmond. A few members of his family and some personal friends were present.

Judge Scott is elected for eight years.

CATARRH

Catarrh is not only a most disgusting and offensive malady, but when allowed to continue, becomes constitutional. The foul secretions and mucous matter are absorbed into the blood, and the whole system becomes infected with the catarrhal poison, and can't be reached by inhalations, sprays, washes, powders and salves. Only a remedy that enters into the circulation and cleanses and purifies the polluted blood, can cure Catarrh after it gets to be chronic. It is a disease that attacks the membranes and delicate coverings of all the bodily organs. It is not the bodily organs. It is not confined to the head, nose and the bodily organs, it is not confined to the head, nose and the short while we sured. This was six years else, kidneys, bladder and throat, but the stomach, bowlets, kidneys, bladder and other parts of the body are nothing chearth better for the blood then S. S. than I do.

The catarrhal poison pollutes the blood, and through the circulation contaminates every organ, membrane and tissue of the body. Catarrh affects the general health, injures the digestion, upsets the stomach, destroys the appetite, produces nausea and other miserable symptoms. S. S. S. reaches it through the blood, goes into the circulation and drives out all unhealthy accumulations, and when all parts of the system are receiving a supply of rich, pure blood, the general health is invigorated, and all the disgusting symptoms of the disease stop.
